Hongkong Tides.

The Tide table given below has been compiled by the Nautical Almanac Office in London from the results of the analysis of observations taken by means of an automatie tide recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha Tsui during the years 1887-8-9.

The zero of the table is Low. Water Ordinary Spring Tides, which has been found to be 2 feet below mean sea level. To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 6 ft. 7 in., and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 12 ft. 9 in. to the height given in the table.

HONGROND, TUESDAY, PEBRUARY 9, 1897. The Special Correspondent of The Times, whose identity is now well known in the Far East, has done excellent work in his latest series of letters on China. The outcome of his letters on the financial condition of the Chinese Empire will be seen the leading article we reproduce from The Times of December 29, and we think it is a good omen of the proper readjustment of the Chinese tariff and lekin questions when this powerful metropolitan (yet cosmopolitan) journal arrives at the conclusion that 'if China needs more money she inust get it by handing over the necessary taxation to the management of European administrators.' A study of the methods under which the imperial revenue of China is collected, an acquaintance with the corruption which exists throughout the whole system of official China, is all that is required to bring any reasonable being to this one sound conclusion. Even the Chinese authorities admit the principle of it themselves in the delegation of some of their powers to Sir Robert Hart and his very efficient staff of Customs officials, and the establishment of the Imperial Chinese Post, under the agis of the Maritime Customs Service is only an extension, and a wise extension, of the Department over which Sir Robert Hart presides with such transcondent ability. We take it that the only influence theredeters the Central Authority in Peking-that much-derided, effete bureaucracy-from at once extending the principle they have admitted already is the fear of a general uprising fomented by the official classes, by the literati, the horde of expectant oflice heliders. It is not too much to expect that the influence of Mr Chirol's letters will be felt throughout the whole of Great Britain. Where the Times leads many will follow, and we now hope for a healthy rectification of the shortsighted policy that the Lanczehire and Yorkshire Chambers of Commerce were in danger of accepting, viz., that of acceding to Li Hung Chang's proposal for an increase in the Chinese tariff on foreign imports and exports without any adequate corresponding concession by China. In England, there had been growing up a strong feeling in favour of the treaty revision with China-on the lines suggested or vaguely hinted at by Li Hung Chang during his recent tour in Europe, Home manufactures apparent ly labouring under the delusion that a grateful China would give such facilities to foreign merchants as would lead to an immediate and permanent expansion of trade. The folly of this we have commented upon on other occasions. Home manufacturers are not aware of the internal condition of China, of the power for resisting immovation that is held by the mandarinic ignoramuses of the interior.

We are not sure that The Times, with the special advantages it possesses for the THE Directors of the Shanghai Land In-Hung Chang plays in the economy of the per cent for the year. country. Our contemporary says : If the Chinese Government were willing to do THE local branch of the Russo-Chinese everything in its own power to improve the Bank was formally opened at Tientsin on financial situation, and if it frankly offered the 13th ult., under the management of such advantages in roturn as it can easily Messra W. Drosemeier and A. Lan. give, not only without cost but with a certainty of a large net profit for itself, then it would establish a strong claim to the these conditions are not satisfied. Hung Chang talked much about the reforms which China would grant if she were first enabled to raise a trifle of fifty millions sterling, and about the power he would exert in obtaining them if only he were sent home with this sum practically assured by British concessions and assistance. But in China he holds different language, nor does he seem more disposed than the most ignorant and untravelled of his class to remove any of the veratious restrictions now placed upon trade. Just as little does he intend to touch in any way the gigantic system of corruption and peculation hy which he has amassed his wealth, and by which the whole official class grows fat at the expense of the State. Now, Minitting that Li Hung Chang is little better than others of his class and that his official existence has been devoted in the main, to the enriche official of great power and importance. Possessed of a powerful intellect and abilities beyond any other Chinaman of At Chinking, on the 1st February, the equal official rank, and fortunate enough to Wife of T. W. BOWERN, of a Daughter,have come under the benign influence of an upright British soldier like General Gordon, he recognised that the foreigner, hitherto (and in almost every part of interior China still) despised as a 'barbarian,' was actually in advance of the Chinese; and he set himself to improve his Province by the adoption and application of European methods and inventions, calling in foreign assistance in the furtherance of his schemes. Two influences operated against the complete fulfillment of his programme of improvement, i.e., the inherent and ingrained conservatism of ignorant underlings and a lack of discrimination in the selection of his foreign assistants. Profitting by his foreign travel, we are assured by those who have been brought in contact with the aged satrap that were he once again Viceroy of Chihli, even at his advanced age, he would institute reforms on quite a different basis, and he regrets deeply and sincerely that his tour of the world was not taken twenty or thirty years ago. But Li Hung Chang is not now the man of power the people of Europe imagine him to be. He is not a Viceroy. He is not even in the Cabinet, which consists of six fossilised, conservative officials who scarcely know there is a world outside the city of Peking. Li Hung Chang is not a member of any of the six Boards which constitute the administrative bureaucracy. He holds the post of Grand Secretary to the Inner Council, a nominal position to which no emoluments are attached and in which he can use no great power for reforming the Empire. Since his return from Europe, he has been appointed one of. of the nine members of the Tsung-li Yamen-s sort of Foreign Office which is not a Foreign Office in the European. acceptation of the term. Those who know anything at all of the history of foreign intercourse with China are well aware that it is a questionable honour to belong to the Tsung-li Yamen; the members, as such, receive no remuneration, neither have they any opportunity, as such, of sharing in the 'squeezes' enjoyed by provincial officials of inferior rank. Where he is he can accomplish next to nothing in the way of reform, so the English. press need not accuse him, by inference, of breaking faith. Were he a member of the Cabinet, it would be different. Then he would be in constant communication with -the Emperor, who, but for the Empress-Dowager, is omnipotent within his own realm, and as Cabinet Minister Li could" then suggest internal and external reforms with a prospect of their being carried into effect. In his old age, however, Li Hung Chang has now no desire for Cabinet rank. He is not altogether physically unfit for the position, but readers of Mr Curzon's 'Problems of the Far East, will remember how arduous and trying are the duties and the ceremonials attaching to the office. We are inclined to advise the Home authorities not to base their hope for an extension of tradal advantages with China upon any promises made by Li Hung Chang whilst in Europe. Let them rather pin their faith to the proposition advanced by the Times for the introduction of European administrators of China's finances. If China could be persuaded to take this step, which, we are glad to see, has just been taken by Siam; then, we predict, the result would be even more magnificent than the outcome of Lord Cromer's administration of the finances of Egypt, and the opening up of the country to foreign trade, as it has never been before, would re-act with immeasurable blessing upon the benighted, official-The payment of increased duties at the ridden people of this huge empire. port of entry is no guarantee that foreign goods will move more freely into the in- THE Tientsin-Peking railway is to be a

LONDON, 7th February, 1897. THE HOUSE OF COMMONS-GREAT BRITAIN AND EGYPT.

Sir-Michael Hicks-Beach, in moving an Egyptian vote of £798,802, which the House of Commons adopted, said that the necessity of making an advance in the Soudan was likely to prolong the British occupation of Egypt, the main cause of which prolongation would be the refusal of France to allow Great Britain a free hand. Great Britain regards an advance in the Nile Valley as necessary, and will not be worried out of its policy by hindrances such as the refusal of money.

The French press is excited, and regards the above as an open deliance of France statement in connection on Monday.

[We understand that the Indian Army, or, at any rate, a portion of it, has received orders to be prepared for active service, presumably in the Soudan. -- Fib., C. M.]

Peking, 29th Jan. Reports come from the Palace that H.E. Li Hung-chang is in high favour again will ral informal audiences. Li's enemies are greatly disturbed, as it is believed that L will be specially honoured at the coming New Year. It is expected that he will be of War, under Prince Kung, or High Commissioner of the combined Peiyang and Nanyang Coast Defences and Superintendent of Trade. These offices are to be separated, it is reported, from the Chillie and Liang-Kung Viceroyalties and given to Li with headquarters at Tientsin, this new office discharging the functions of the former Admiralty Board. The decision rests with the Emperor, who has declared his intention of governing-in future, and shaking himself free from the influence of his former advisers.

[The Poking and Tientsin Times has communicated leading article dealing with Li Hung Chang's position and influence. The writer says that Li is not a favourite with the Emperor, who is unwilling to give him any more posts of honour or power while his influence with the Foreign Ministers is probably less than at any time in the past. We have information which coincides with the communiqué of our Tientsin contemporary, but it is probably too much to say positively that Li is not a favourite with the Emperor. The British Medical Journal of Jan. ! contains an abstract-a very long abstract -of an address on 'The Spread of Plague, delivered before the Epidemiological Society by James Cantlie, Lecturer on Applied Anatomy, Charing Cross Hospital Medical School, and late of Hongkong. der John G. Heugh, of the Galatea, coast guard ship at Hull, was concluded at Chatham on Now Year's Day. The charge against the accused was that of drinking intoxicating liquors to such an excess as to produce illness, whereby he was incapacitated from the performance of his duties. The Court assembled on board the Forte, the president being Capt. F. R. Boardman, C.B., of the Warspile. Capt. Count Metaxa, of the Galatea, presecuted, and Mr Hohler, barrister-at-law, appeared as prisoner's friend. A number medical and other witnesses were called for the presecution, and in his defence Conf. Heugh produced a lengthy written statement, which was read by Mr Hohler. The rial Maritime Customs, amounting at he suffered was caused by ague and fever. and not by excessive drinking. Taking the evidence of the prosecution at its worst, it amounted to no more than this-that there would have been no delirium tremens if there had been no previous fover and ague. The accused's constitution had been undermined by service in Zululand, Egypt, and other foreign places. The witnesses who quite mistaken in what they thought saw. The commander produced his service record, which showed that his career had been of an exceptionally distinguished character. Truth refers to the case as follows : -The case of Commander Hough, late of H.M.S. Galaten, reminds me forcibly of that of Surgeon Lea of the Ringarooma. According to the evidence given at last week's Court-mertial, Commander Hough -being as he contended under the influence of ague, but, as the court concluded, under that of an excessive consumption of alcohol-conceived the idea that an organ was playing in the torpedo-flat, that Satan was coming alongside in a steam-pinnace, that the boots in his cabin were performing a dance (one pair specially annoying him by failing to keep time with the others), and that he was haunted by a seltzer-water buttle dressed up in a cocked hat. Thosedelusions have led to his being severely reprinanded, losing six months' seniority, and being dismissed his ship. Let us hope that this will have a sobering effect upon the gallant officer's boots and seltzer-water In Surgeon Lea's case, the commanding officer was under the impression that certain barren islands in the Pacific were rich

CHINESE FINANCEA

Our Special Correspondent in the Fa East gives a rather dopressing and melancholy view of the financial outlook in China. Apart from the Imperial Maritime Customs collected under the superintendence of SirkRobert Hart, he patta the aggregate of Chinese revenues at sixty million tacks, or ten millions sterling. Twothirds of this sum are retained by the provincial Governments, for their own uses, and the remaining third is hypothecated to a variety of traditional purposes, such as the maintenance of palaces, bannermen, clansmen of the ruling dynasty, and so forth. The central Government would accordingly be in very straitened circumstances were it not for the regular and steadily growing payments for the Tupepresent to some twenty-million tacks. This.

THE CHINA REVIEW. PUBLISHED BI-MONTHLY

ITHIS Review, which was intended to meet the wants of many students of Chinese cansed by the discontinuance of Notes and Queries on China and Japan,' has reached its Twenty-second Volume. The Review disensage those topics which are uppermost in the minds of students of the 'Fur East' and about which every intelligent person connected with China or Japan is desirous of acquiring trustworthy information. It lucludes many interesting Notes and original Papers on the Arts, Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Natural History, Antiquities, and Social Manners and Customs, etc., etc., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, and the Far East generally. Recontly a new departure has been taken, and the Review now gives papers on Trade, Commerce, and Descriptive notes of Travel by well-known writers. It was thought that by extending the scope of the Review in this direction, the Magazine would be mademore generally

The Review department receives special attention, and ondeavours are made to present a careful and concise record or Literature on China etc., and to give critiques embodying santches of the Most recent works on such topics, Authors and Publishers are requested to forward works to Editor, Clima Review, care of China

THE FAR EASTERN QUESTION. -CHINA'S CLAIM TO A REVISION OF THE

TREATY TARIPP. (Times' Special Correspondent.)

Shanghai, Oct. 21. Doubtless a State which had scrupulously respected all its international engagements in regard to trade and commerce, which had intelligently striven to develop all its natural resources, which had honestly administered all its legitimate branches of revenue, might very properly, on finding itself overtaken by unexpected disasters, apply for a measure of relief at the hands of friendly Powers on the plea of deserving poverty. But on what grounds is the Chinese Government entitled to set up may such claim? The whole history of the trade relations of foreign countries with China is that of a perpetual struggle against the insidious attempts of her rulers to elude or neutralize the effects of treaty obligations by local exactions and official obstruction. I shall deal more fully later on with the question of likin and doti-shui dues, and I only mention them here pro memoria as an instance of the ingenuity with which the Chinese Government has succeeded in taking back with the left hand what it had given with the right. As for the immense natural resources with which her soil and subsoil teem, it is unnecessary to the rulers of China have hitherto kept them locked up against every attempt to develop them for her own or any one else's | PRICE LISTS. benefit. But it is in connexion with the administration of her own revenues that the most damning case can be made out gainst her in misericordium appeals for British benevolences.

Without wandering too far into the labyrinth of Chinese finance, it can easily be shown that there is scarcely a single branch of her revenue, outside the foreign Customs, which might not be made to yield by an ordinarily honest and intelligent administration a surplus far in excess of the financial needs arising out of the Japanese war. In fact, a merely partial abatement of the shameless robbery and peculation which go on unheeded and unchecked in the avowed and unarowed cost of collecany one of her chief departments of re- tion cannot be put down at less than 66 venue would suffice to meet the legiti- per cent. ! intelligence and honesty of purpose with which he has been good-naturedly credited in England, it would surely have occurred to him that the true remedy for China's financial difficulties was not to hamper the operations of the one hen that regularly lays her golden eggs in the lap of the Imperial Government, but to try and breed in a similar fashion others that would do the same. Even a Chinese statesman does not require the stimulating influence of European travel to compare in his own country the results yielded by a foreign administration loyally conducted on ordinary princithose produced by the time-honoured routing of native incompetence and corruption.
The revenue of the Imperial Maritime Customs has increased from 8,000,000 table in 1864 to 28,000,000 table within 30 years, and the total cost of collection and sidminis. and the total cost of collection and sciming. Sair Singleton—Do you housely noted to that revenue amounts to little say that you spend less money since you prove than 10 per cent. The other branches partied? Bonny Diptus—My dear fellow, of Chinese revenue have during the game.
